

Giampaolo Bandini - FW Labs MIT Planning Manager, Fastweb

Giampaolo is responsible for the Planning group of Fastweb Labs department. He is in charge of managing the group of Project Managers for all the initiatives involving ipTV television and multimedia projects for residential, PA and large account customers. He is also responsible of the Business Organization group and since 2006 Demand Manager for FW Labs.

Starting from 2003 to 2005 he held the position of team leader for the development of Rai Click VoD portal. In 2000 he joined the VAS Engineering Department of FASTWEB S.p.A. where he coordinated the team responsible for the development of some of FASTWEB's most important web initiatives, as the most important Italian online newspaper of those years, "Il Nuovo".

From 1997 to 2000 Giampaolo worked for the Communications department at The Associated Press and Dow Jones Italia.